Event

Name: POP Art Revisited

Dates: 04/20/2006 - 05/27/2006

Description: Pop Art, coined in 1958 by British critic Laurence Alloway, refers to the use of POPular culture images in art such as comic books, advertisements, packaging and images from television, music and cinema. This movement (its origins in England in the 1950s and the United States during the 1960s) was marked by a fascination with popular culture and celebrating everyday objects, turning the commonplace into icons and accepting these icons as art forms in themselves.

Some decades later, NoHo Gallery LA will celebrate the legacy of Pop Art with works by local, L.A. artists from April 20 - May 27. Taking it a step farther, the exhibit will also highlight artists who use "popular" or new techniques to create their art. Click Here
